Back home: Kerrie Warren (second from right) presents Firewall to Paul Burns, Michelle Ketchion and Craig Milligan from International Power/Mitsui Loy Yang B.

Artwork returns

A STRIKING piece of bushfire-inspired artwork, which has made its way across the state, has returned to the Latrobe Valley.

'Firewall' was created by Gippsland expressionist artist Kerrie Warren who used painting as an outlet to help her cope with the trauma of the Black Saturday bushfires, which threatened her Crossover home and art studio.

The piece was purchased by International Power/Mitsui Loy Yang B and Ms Warren used funds from the sale to display it and her other bushfire-inspired paintings in the 'Fields of View' exhibition with other Gippsland artists in galleries across Victoria.

Ms Warren officially presented the piece to Loy Yang B's sponsorship and donations earlier this month.

Moe Cancer Council update

THE Moe and District Volunteer Unit recently held a stall in Moe, raising $530.

E Laurens and A Johnson won the raffle.

The next stall will be held on Thursday, 14 October in the Purvis Plaza and in Moore Street (weather permitting) from 9am until 1.30pm.

Cancer Council merchandise will be on sale as well as Christmas cards, craft, home produce, knitwear, bric-a-brac and used stamps.

To help on the day, or donate goods, phone Doreen on 5127 4682 or Cynthia on 5127 4893.

The unit will also be holding a stall at the Battle of Trafalgar celebrations on Sunday, 31 October from 9am until 3pm in Trafalgar.
